HONGKONG, JUNE 10TH, 1889.

THE Hongkoug Sanitary Board to-day completes the first year of its existence. The time is not an impropriate one to ask whether it has proved a success or the reverse. That it has disappointed some of the expectations formed of it may be at once The amount of talk to amount of work has been in the proportion of FALSTAFE's intolerable deal of sack to a half-pennyworth of bread, and the tone which has pervaded the discussions has not always been such as to command public respect. For this state of things perhaps Mr. FRANCIS is more responsible than any other member. The learned Queen's Counse. emulating the notorious Dr. TANNER bas been prodigal of insult and invective, and has, we fear, done more harm than good to the cause of popular rights. Writing on the subject of the election twelve months ago we said-" Mr. FRANCIS's legal knowledge. his skill in debate, his long and intimate acquaintance with the colony, his knowledge of the social condition of all sections of the population, give him qualifications for the position that can be equalled by few.". still entertain the same opinion of the learned gentleman's intellectual abilities, and his intentions are no doubt excellent but his method is undoubtedly bad. Kuhlow's Trade Review of the 1st May, has some remarks on the amount of success achieved by the North German Lloyd's steamers to China and Japan and Australia, since they began running in July 1886. The results have not been no satisfactory from a German point of view as might be wished, judging by the goods traffic for the year 1887-8. It is stated that: - The total quantity of goods carried by the steamers of the North German Lloyd during the period above mentioned to and from Eastern Asia and Australia, was 57,000 tons, of a value of 75,373,000 mks.; made up of 26,412 tons, and 31.343.000 mks. value outwards, and 30.588 tous and 44.028.000 mks, value homewards, Among the goods outward, the value of those of German origin was 23,416,000 tons, (74-7 per cent), in the bomeward cargoss, the value of goods for Germany was 10,734,000 mks. (244 per cent.) The reason of the smallness of the percentage of the last item is found principally in the fact that the. North German Lloyd have to exert themselves to the utmost, to obtain freights of raw silk in China and Japan, wool and skins in Australia, and tobacco in Singapore; and that according to present business conditions, although these at ticles to a great extent eventually find a market n Gormany, they first pass through the hands of foreign brokers, and therefore do not appear in the list as intended for Germany. Thu raw sifk of the value of 84 million marks was landed at Genoa, tobacco of the value of over 1 million marks and wool value 2,400, 00 mks. at Antwerp, and even of the wool, value 4,400,000 mks, and bides, value 1,000,000 mks., landed at Bremerhaven a part (900,000 mks. and 750,000 inks, respectively) was for England,

The Free Press thus describes it: The execution of the Chinaman Lee Al Kong. entenced to be hanged at the last Assizes for the murder of two Chinese constables in Smith Street, on the evening of May 11th, took place about twenty minutes past six a.m. on the sixty one. He entered the Royal Navy in 1843. 3rd inst. The gallows had been eracted outside and as lieutenant of the Cruiser, served in the the jail walls on the 1st just, and as the case was rathera notorious one, there wayan nau sually large number of people present, principally Chinese. The usual formalities, such as pinioning the prisonor and thereading of the death warrant, took place inside the jail immediately before the condemned man was brought to the scene of execution. The prisoner then made a request that his dead body There were 14 deaths among the British and be given to his relatives who had already made a similar application, but the request could not be granted. It was about a quarter past siz, and 2 in the Alice Memorial Hospital: 59 deaths | when the prisoner appeared at the small doorway in the jail wall just in rear of the spot, where the Asile de la St. Enfance. The total deaths the scaffold stood. He was dressed in a long white garment, his arms being pinioned behind above the albow. The executioner and his assistant sided Lee Ab Kong to ascend the steps, and he was at once placed under the beam with his back to the crowd. No time was lost in unfaste inc the kadjang which hung over the beam protecting the rope from the damp. The calprit's knees and ankles were pinioned, the noose adjusted, the white cap produced from the executioner's pocket and drawn over his face, and in a moment the bolt had been drawn, the drop had fallen and all was over. After the body had been hanging the prescribed time, it was cut down and placed in a rude coffin and removed inside the jail, where a a Chinese jury viewed the remains. The formal inquest was held at 2 p.m. In a few minutes the large and orderly crowd dispersed and the Sikh police guard was formed apand marched off.

-I do not think I have talked over this matter in a way prejudicial to the defendant. The tomperatures tu en in Piddler's case from the morning of the 6th to the 9th May gave an indication of collapse. I consider those temperatures to be such as may be seen in a typical case of typhoid fever. I considered the patient to have been ill ten days or a fortnight before those temperatures were taken. I can't say from the chart that Piddler had been ill for some time previous to the time those temperatures reier to. The chart is not all I have to go on in answering questions on temperature. I do not, in framing my replies, rely on information obtained in the Court of inquiry. I speak from general experience.

This closed the case for the prosecution. Capt. Henderson said the only other point was that Piddler had been ill for some time before he went to the doctor at all. There was instead. The names amount to over three evidence of this, although he did not bring it hundred

STEAMER "BLEKTRA."

The Penang Gazette says :-- On Sunday afternoon, the 26th May, a telephonic message was received here from the lighthouse keeper at in flying the fire signal. Immediately every preparation was made to render the necessary mer came in not long after, and proved to be the previous afternoon. It appears that about 2 port; and as it was feared that a large fire might break out on opening the hatches, cast to have prompt assistance close at hand if necessary. Happily the fire was discovered to be smouldering underneath, and no immediato assistance was required. Precautions, however, were taken to bring her afterwards into shallow water, between the green and No. I buoys, where she now is, in case it might be found necessary to scuttle her. The pumps were slongeide shortly after, and were at once made to play on the hatch from which the smoke issued. Some of the police attempted to go down the hold, among whom were Captain Mackenzie and Sergeant Leahor, but were soon driven out by the smake : the two officers mentioned, with several others, being hauled up insensible. The pumps were made to work all night nodes the superintendence of Mr. Riccard and Captain Bradbery, who slept on board. On the morning of the 27th a fresh butch of coolies was taken on board to relieve those who were tired, and an additional rump was also shipped by Mr. Cuscadon on a tongkang and taken alongside the steamer. With the aid of so many pumps, the fire was extinguished by about half-past two o'clock the same afternoon. No one can say what was the origin, but it is believed it must have originated from damp cotton.

Owing to the strong flood tide running on Monday, this unfortunate, vessel, after the fire on board had been extinguished, drifted on to the edge of the bank and stuck fast. During. the night at high water, an attempt was made with her own engines to get her off, but without success. From the time, however, that the fire was extinguished, she was being lightened by the discharge of her damaged cargo and the pumping out of the water in the forehold, the result being that at high water again the next her stern becoming embedded desper in the mad: At noon another attempt was made to float her with the assistance of the steamer Ho Kuci and Teutonia, but in vain. Subsequently ben-bower anchor was taken out, by the Ho Kwei assisted by the Rosebud, and a large kedge anchor was ast into deep water to prevent further drifting. On Wednesday morning, all preparations having been made, with the help of her anchors and ber engines, and with the assistance of the steamer Flintshire to tow her, she was successfully got off, and east anchor in mid channel. In avoiding the Elektra after the tow line was dropped from that vessel, the Flintshire accidently got the slack of it twisted round her propellor. She was therefore obliged to anchor in shallow water, and it-was sometime before the propeller was
